that hypocrites cover with cloaks of charity, modesty, religion and love.

"Hypocrites" is a beautifully presented film story, staged for most part out of deore in wonderful leafy woodland. The piece portrays Youth bolding up the mirror and revealing the mirror.

The devely allegorical figure of the immorality, vanity and deceit that hypocrites cover with cloaks of charity, modesty, religion and love.

Over mountain and dale, through the film like an elusive droam, holding high her mirror which reveals some assonishing facts.

The cast is splendid, including forests and across rivers the faithful hero pursues Truth seeking to see the reflections in her mirror.

School Roos scored a fraction less than 3,000 points, breaking his own previous record by nearly 400 points. Yale's champion strong man weighs 185 pounds and is 5 foet 1 inch in height. He does not impress one as being a heroules because he is of a sleeder build.

Roos, who is also a mamber of the New York Athletic Club, is best known as Yale's winning shot putter. In the dual meets with Harvard and Yale during the past two years he has successfully defended the honor of Tale. The day of the Tale-Harvard meet two years ago at New Haven Roos was in the hospital convalascing from an attack of maiaria. Yale was in a bad way for shot putters. When Roos learned of this he got dut of bed and won the event from Brickley, who at the time was Harvard's best weight man.
